21/06/25

Soft Skills

Date

Self Motivation.

- Motivation

- "a reason or reasons for acting or behaving in a particular way"

- "The term motivation describes why a person does something. It is the driving force behind human actions."

- "Motivation is the process that initiates, guides, and maintains goal-oriented behaviors."

innovate

CamScanner

Date

Extrinsic Vs. Intrinsic Motivation

Extrinsic Motivation

- Extrinsic motivation describes behavior driven by external rewards or punishments.

- These consequences can be tangible, such as ~~mandator~~ monetory loss or shame, or ~~as~~ abstract, such as social respect or shame.

Q/ Write 5 examples for intrinsic motivation.

- ~~Learning~~ learned to play guitar & violin simply because I love music & wanted to express my thoughts and feelings.
- I read novels not for assignments or activities but because I genuinely enjoy the story and the feeling.

CamScanner

Date

- I set personal goals & work hard to achieve them because reaching them gives me inner happiness & fulfillment
- I take pride in doing my work to the T, not because someone is watching, but because I want to give my best.
- ~~I help others without expecting anything~~
- I often take initiative in projects or assignments because I find joy in being creative, responsible & finish the task successfully

CamScanner

Date

Types of Extrinsic Motivation

- Reward - Based motivation.
- Power - Based motivation.
- Fear - Based motivation.

Reward - Based motivation.

* Reward-Based motivation describes motivation resulting from external rewards, tangible or abstract. For example, an employee may be motivated to meet a sales target because of the promise of a bonus.

Power - Based motivation.

* It is a form of extrinsic motivation reliant upon the desire to exert control over others. For example, a leader may be motivated to lead and inspire People to overcome Challenges.

innovate

CamScanner

Date

Fear - Based motivation

This describes the desire to avoid an extrinsically negative result. For example, a manager may threaten to fine those who are late to work, or a student may study for a test out of fear of a bad grade.

02/ 05 examples for extrinsic motivat

- I got motivation from my father to pass the Indian exams. He said that he would buy me a violin if I pass that so I practiced really hard & passed it.

- I go to work before 7.20 a.m everyday. because after 7.20 a.m the company will deduct

innovate

CamScanner

Date

rs. 44/- per minute from my salary.

- I ~~work~~ work really hard to get good grades for my subjects because the faculty informed us that they will select 5 of us to work as a lecturer for the diploma course if we get good marks for the exams with the regular attendance & good behaviour,

- Once when I was in gr. 09 I got 98 marks for Eastern music my mother asked "where's the other 2 marks" So I ~~go the~~ determined to get the full marks to show her that I am capable of doing that. So I studied hard & did my practicals really well & got 100 in the next term.

innovate

CamScanner